In Praise of the Poet Archaeologist: Papers in Honor of Stanley South and His Five Decades of Historical Archaeology

edited by

Linda F. Carnes-McNaughton

and

Carl Steen

Publications in South Carolina Archaeology, Number 1
The Council of South Carolina Professional Archaeologists 2005
Table of Contents

Introduction .................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 1

Part I: Past Perfect
Chapter 1: Praising the Poet Archaeologist: Stanley South’s Contributions to North Carolina Archaeology By Linda R. F. Carnes-McNaughton ................................. 4
Chapter 2: Stan, South of the Border: Some of Stanley South’s Contributions to the Archaeology of South Carolina by Carl Steen ......................... 13

Part II: Evolutionary Theory and Culture Process
Chapter 3: Contemplation of the Hidden Issues Suggested by the Word “Historical” by Lewis R. Binford ................................................................. 24
Chapter 4: Patterns South: the Evolution and Application of Pattern Recognition Tools in the Archaeology of the Spanish Colonies by Kathleen Deagan ........................................................................................................................................................................................................................ 30
Chapter 5: Energy Theory and Historical Archaeology by Stanley South and Halcott Green ....................................................................................... 37

Part III: Pattern Recognition by Case Studies
Chapter 6: From The “Castle” to The “Palace”: A Proposed Artifact Pattern for High-Status British Colonial Residences? by Thomas E. Beaman, Jr .................................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 64
Chapter 7: The Brunswick Pattern and the Interpretation of a 1670 Charles Towne Structure by Michael Stoner ........................................................................ 73
Chapter 8: Patterns On A Changing Landscape: Transition In The South Carolina Backcountry by Kenneth E. Lewis .................................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 81
Chapter 9: Another Nail Biter: Nail Form and Function at the Tellico Blockhouse by Richard R. Polhemus ........................................................................... 100
Chapter 10: Recognizing Pattern and Evolution on the Spanish Colonial Frontier: A View from California and the Pacific by Russell K. Skowronek ................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 112

Part IV: Stan South, Teacher by Example, and Poet by Nature
Chapter 11: The Great War at Santa Elena: The Incidental Archaeology of World War One Marine Corps Training on Parris Island, South Carolina by James Legg .................................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 120
Chapter 13: Evolutionary Theory in Archaeology at Mid-Century and at the Millennium by Stanley South and Halcott P. Green .................................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 154
Chapter 14: Digging Stan South’s Poetry: An Appreciation by John L. Idol, Jr ........................................................................................................ 190
Chapter 15: “The Fishermen”: An Introduction by Stanley South .................................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 198

Conclusion .................................................................................................................................................................................................................. 204

To Order:

Price: $20 per copy. Make checks to COSCAPA

Shipping by mail to SC, NC and Georgia is included.
Delivery to more distant locations will be charged separately.

Send Requests to:
Carl Steen, Editor,
COSCAPA
PO Box 50394,
Columbia SC 29250
or:
Natalie P. Adams, President
COSCAPA
C/O New South Associates
1534 Leesburg Rd.
Columbia, SC 29209

email us with any questions at: carl.steen@gmail.com or npadams@newsouthassoc.com